Door Styles

The Door Style is one of the most important; as it sets the overall tone of your locker room. Raised panel designs lend classic elegance; louvers can add both ventilation and a casual-upscale feel, while the shaker and flat panel options lean toward modern sophistication.

Flush Veneer / Plastic Laminate

Simple, clean and ultra-contemporary describes the flush veneer door. Heavily influenced by European design, these doors can transform any project into a modern work of art. You can now mix and match any species on our veneer pallet with matching wood grain, black or aluminum edging.

Veneer Shaker Panel Door

The shaker door is constructed with clean lines and square profiles that showcases the best in contemporary design. Choose a traditional veneer, or pick any one of the beautiful exotics to make the project distinct and unique.

Veneer Flat Panel Door

If you're looking for the perfect balance of traditional and contemporary, then the flat panel door is the design that will achieve such aspirations. The flat panel door is offered in traditional and exotic veneers.

Veneer Raised Panel Door

Our patented raised panel doors offer a traditional and elegant look that would make any project rich in design and craftsmanship. Doors are available in numerous veneer species and are available with a square edge or a radius profile.

Full Louvered Door

Our louvered doors are not only crafted to the finest details, they are also functional. Unlike many other companies that use a faux louvered center, ours are meticulously machined to have separate louvered slabs in each door.

Veneer Raised Panel Louvered Door

Combining a raised panel and louvered option gives you the traditional and elegant look along with functionality and ventilation. This has become a popular choice among fitness centers across America.
