Our commitment to Sustainability and environmental responsibility has been a part of Wilsonart's culture and success for over fifty years. In recent years as a responsible member of the global community, our manufacturing and distribution networks have grown into a worldwide network and our impact on the environment has become an integral part of our day-to-day practice. The fact is, environmental stewardship is a policy to us, not a one-time project. It's simply good business. See our journey...
